

473-7473
Went

born? died?

GLYCERIUS - was proclaimed emperor

Riles and Morsele fell into 6 other hands, but we do not know the details

Italy suffered an Ostrogothic invasion. The attackers came from Pannonia and were led by the AMAL king VIDIMIR. He died shortly after his arrival in Italy, whereupon his son VIDIMIR the Younger inherited the army but not his father's kingship. The emperor got rid of them by sending them off to join the Visigoths, their leader - like his predecessor

VIRRIC (in 427) - was no service threat & EURIC. Even kept some of his former courses within sight among his relatives

473

In SAVA near Serravalle, a sepioidie outbreak had spread out after the departure of the Goths in 473, and as early as 484 had obstructed Theodoric's trip to Italy.

473

Theodoric Shato withdrew to Thrace where he assembled an Ostrogothic Army. His following grew rapidly and soon the federate warriors felt strong enough to proclaim their leader King. His elevation as King in Thrace in 473 parallels the elevation of ODOVACAR in 476.

Theodoric Shato demanded recognition as sole Gothic King to whom all deserters had to be returned.

He found in the organizing the office of commands-in-chief, delivering himself ready and willing to work now with his people against everything except the Randals. The enormous size of Theodore State had to free the American people from and then to advance into the interior of the empire.

For Theodore State succeeded in manipulating the better things, then he could enter into the same influence and influence & his own Theodore would be left with the rest of poor actions. They had to avoid a direct confrontation

Early fall 19473

VIO. MIR deposited

Mar 3, 473 till Spring 7474

Empire GLYCERUS reigned

Theodoric "the Squerter" had established himself so firmly he was "raised up to be king over all Goths."

West Empire

GLYCERIVS was placed on throne by the Eastern Court.